DANCE CLIMAXES FROSH WEEK

President's Message

Welcome back to campus! Enrollment figures and a spirit of enthusiasm among the students promise another fine year.

We know that you will be pleased with campus changes—completion of Marycrest Hall and future plans for additional buildings.

We believe that these forward moving changes are indicative of the spirit of our Student Body, of our Faculty, of our Administration. Together we are interested in building a truly great center of Christian wisdom and culture to be carried on in an atmosphere of warm friendliness and personal interest in the student, as an individual, whose qualities of mind and heart are to be developed and enriched.

Our Freshman Class is the largest since the peak enrollment of the G.I. period. This surprisingly large class is an indication that here at Seattle University we have already begun the up-trend in student population expected in colleges in several years. This is another indication of the driving spirit of the university.

In these days when thoughtful citizens are being forced by widespread evidence of dishonesty and corruption to recognize the need of sound moral principles, we pray that both upperclassmen and freshmen will, among the other things that they hope to derive from college life, consider that their first and most important duty to themselves, during their college years, will be to ground themselves in a sound and thoroughly Christian philosophy of life.

REV. A. A. LEMIEUX, S.J.

Marycrest Hall Opens Doors to 310 Coeds

by ANN O'DONNELL

Copy Editor

Marycrest Hall, another milestone in Seattle University's giant expansion program, welcomed over 310 old and new coeds as the 1954-55 school year began.

The new women's dormitory, located between Summit and Minor on Cherry, was constructed at a cost of $1,320,000. Construction began in June, 1953, and the dedication is slated for Sunday, October 17.

Included in the six-story structure is a cafeteria, snack bar, recreational rooms, music practice rooms, and student laundry facilities. The Z-shaped building was designed by John V. Maloney, Seattle architect.

The hall is under the supervision of Mrs. Marie Leonard, Dean of Women, and Mrs. A. Myers, who is Resident Director. Mrs. Nell Mitchell is Assistant Director.

Besides the Resident Director and Assistant Resident Director, Jeanne Murray, Kay Fleming, and Maureen McCormack are on call as Student Advisors to aid the coeds in adjusting to the rules and atmosphere of the new dorm.

Each floor of the dormitory is a separate unit, with officers elected by the floor residents. Activities of the five separate floors are coordinated by the Inter-Council composed of each floor president and another elected representative for each floor. Social activities will include firesides, informal hall parties, dinner dances, and participation in campus events.

Dorm Rules Listed

With the opening of the new dormitory, which houses the largest concentration of students on campus, new regulations for the residents have been put into operation. Girls must be in by 10:00 p.m. on weekdays, 2:00 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays, and 10:30 p.m. Sundays. Each girl must register when leaving the dorm for two hours or more after 7:30 p.m., giving name, destination, and time of departure. On week ends, the name and phone number of the girl's escort must also be given in case of emergency. Social cuts, or the privilege to be out not later than 12:00 p.m. on a school night, are extended according to class standing and grade point averages.

A new hall regulation allows the girls to smoke in their rooms and

Freshmen Mixer Proceeds to Aid UGN Campaign

"Give until it hurts!" is the earnest request of the pleading little boy on the United Good Neighbor campaign posters. He represents but one of the more than 100,000 direct beneficiaries of the UGN.

United Good Neighbors was established in 1952 in response to public demand for a single campaign which would collaborate the many separate, smaller drives. This federated drive is designed to save money, time and much annoyance for everyone.

Seattle University students will have an opportunity to prove themselves "good neighbors" as well as good citizens by supporting the UGN drive on campus.

Professor Charles LaCugna has charge of this project which begins during Frosh Week.

"In order to put SU over the top, the cooperation of every student is needed," urges Jim Griffin, student chairman. John D. Ward has charge of faculty collections. Other committee members include Joanne Blewett and Al McCann, assistant co-chairmen.

SU's goal for the 1955 campaign has been set at $1714. Last year the quota was $1660.

According to Darrell Brittain, ASSU president, any amount over the established goal will be given to SU campus chest.

"In the past Seattle University has always reached its goal. We sincerely hope that the students and faculty will show the same enthusiasm and support this year," voiced Professor LaCugna.

All rooms on campus where classes are held will be canvassed. Classroom contributions, a wishing well to be set up in The Chieftain, and faculty donations will be main sources in raising money.

Proceeds from the sale of booster hats will also go to the UGN fund.

Dance Friday Nite

Campaign plans include a dance which will be held Friday, Oct. 8, in the Encore Ballroom at 1214 E. Pike. This dance replaces the Frosh Dance originally held at this time. Proceeds will be turned over to the UGN drive.

Dancing will be from 9 to 12 with music provided by the Chanticleers six-piece band.

General admission is 75 cents. Frosh are honored guests and will be admitted for 50 cents, providing they wear booster hats.

John D. Ward is dance chairman. Committee members include Jim Gorman, Mike Santoro, and Sy Simon.

Activities Board Meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m., in Room 118. Presidents of all campus organizations should be present at this first meeting of the fall term.

ORGANIZATIONS SLATE OPEN HOUSE TONIGHT

Freshman Orientation Week comes to a climax tonight and tomorrow night with a Club Open House and a mixer honoring the incoming students.

All active clubs on campus will participate in Open House which is slated for 7:30 tonight in the Student Union Building. Each club will be allotted a table on which to build its display and representatives from the various clubs will man their respective tables. Representatives will also be on hand to provide information about their clubs.

Tomorrow night the initial mixer of the year, honoring the freshmen, will be held at the Encore Ballroom.

Orientation Week was officially opened last Monday by Father John Kelley, S.J., executive vice president of the University.

Addressing the assembly of freshmen, he said, "Today you are embarking on a new and challenging adventure, your college career. That it is an adventure, an intriguing, stimulating, enriching adventure, those who have gone before you can readily testify. An adventure, however, can be successful or unsuccessful. It is up to each and every one of you individually to decide which yours shall be."

"One of the proudest boasts here at Seattle University," he proclaimed, "is the unexcelled spirit of charity, friendliness and helpfulness that exists amongst the students."

Fr. Robert Rehbahn, S.J., dean of men, told the group, "I am interested in your studies but I am more interested in how you act. Everything we have here on campus belongs to you. It is also your responsibility to take care of it."

Other speakers were Barbara Vanderhoff, AWSSU president, who also spoke for Mrs. Marie Leonard, dean of women; Darrell Brittain, ASSU president, who conducted the meeting; Jim Ray, ASSU vice president; Jim Griffith, ASSU publicity director; Mike Lane, ASSU treasurer; Virginia Schuck, ASSU secretary, and Jim Burns, prefect of the Sodality.

Tuesday's program was highlighted by the Frosh Style Show held at Marycrest Hall. All the newest in women's college wear was modeled by Joanne Carroll, Mary Ann Marti, and Suzanne and Suzette Riverman. Kathy Humes was moderator. Approximately 250 attended the event, which was held especially for the incoming freshman girls.

During the show, chairmen and co-chairmen were named for all the ASSU functions of the year. They are: Apple Sale, Gloria Muha and Sally Rude; Pumpkin Pow Wow, Lois Voelker and Mary Petri; Valentolo, Marilyn Ozar and Joanne Carroll; Fashion Show, Gail Cushing and Ann O'Donnell; Cotton Tolo, Kathy Humes and Maureen Manca.

Holy Ghost Mass Slated October 12

To ask God's blessing for the coming school year, SU students will offer the Mass of the Holy Ghost Tuesday, Oct. 12. The mass is scheduled for 10:30 at St. James Cathedral, 804 Ninth Ave.

All seniors and faculty members will attend in caps and gowns. Seniors are to meet at the Boren Street entrance of the Columbus Hospital Nurses' Residence at 10 o'clock. They will form in a procession and march to the Cathedral. Knights and Spurs will usher.

Celebrating the Mass will be Rev. Philip Soreghan, S.J., with Rev. Leo Gaffney, S.J., deacon, and Rev. James Goodwin, S.J., sub-deacon.

Archbishop to Preside

The Most Rev. Thomas A. Connolly, D.D., J.C.D., Archbishop of Seattle, will be assisted by Rev. Harold Small, S.J. Deacons of honor will be Rev. Frederick Harrison, S.J., and Rev. Francis Wood, S.J. Crossbearer will be Rev. Owen McCusker, S.J.

Master of ceremonies at the throne will be Rev. Lawrence Wilkenborg, S.J. Rev. Francis Lindenkugel, S.J., will be master of ceremonies at the altar.

Sermon will be given by Rev. Lucas Kreuzer, S.J. Father Kreuzer has been associated with the Jesuit Mission Band throughout the Northwest and Alaska and was previously at Gonzaga Preparatory School.

Seniors' Caps and Gowns

Seniors may obtain their caps and gowns at Dougherty Hall Tuesday, Oct. 11, between 10 and 2 o'clock. Cadet teachers may obtain theirs at the same place on Friday morning.

Classes will be dismissed at 9:45 to allow students sufficient time to get to the Cathedral. The 10 and 11 o'clock periods will be cancelled, but classes will resume at 12 noon.

Hullo! We're the SU speculators! Right now we're speculating on how to welcome you all in some new and different way. Since this is too early in the year for our imaginations to produce anything outstanding, we'll just let it go at this: HI!

Well, now that one task has been marked off the list, we'll get to other matters at hand. There is an ancient Chinese saying (I hope) that goes, "He who plugs passageway should get plugged." Now, we don't advocate anything so drastic as all this—but we really shouldn't, you know (plug them, that is). Ten minutes is an awfully short period of time and some of us just don't get our in-between-class cigaret if we have to spend the entire 600 seconds plowing toward our destination. To help matters, we are organizing a new, unofficial club on campus. The formal name is "Please Do Not Block The Halls" Club. Because it takes too long to say all this, we will call it the PDNBTH. Care to join us?

Attention, all seniors, juniors, sophomores! (Frosh please ignore). Have you noticed the alarming contingent that has descended upon us? There are so many of them—the frosh we mean. Oh, sigh . . . do you remember? We, too, were once eager and starry-eyed. Remember when we walked gently, ducked when a terrifying barrage of upper-classmen came barreling down on us and generally effaced us?

Then we found out! SU doesn't care what year we are or whether we've had much experience in different activities. There are clubs and organizations that are ready and willing for any help we have to offer. Freshmen especially, we are really glad to see you here and hope to work with you and get to know each and every one of you.

Our campus is all spruced up waiting to be unspruced and we know it soon will be. (N.B.—Please do not pick the flowers!) We are proud of our Student Union Building where we can get coffee (10c per cup), food, cigarettes, grapevine gossip, sleep, Spectator, and poor grades. Best of all is the brand spanking new girls' dorm—Marycrest! We could go on and expound about all the comforts and conveniences of SU's latest gem, but they are covered pretty well in the dorm story by Ann O'Donnell on page one. Better yet, go see for yourself!

Are you interested in The Spectator? We need workers and it's well-nigh impossible to contact every member of our circa 2,200 population. Now, let me see, we can use writers, reporters, typists, circulation and exchange workers, ashtrays emptyers, crying posts and ideas. No experience necessary; will train. We need you!

The Man in the Dog House

By JIM SABOL

Well, fair ladies and brave men, here we are again. Oh sure, vacations and holidays are very nice but this department finds that we soon tire of the life of leisure and long to return to the hallowed halls of wisdom whence we may once again resume our journey in quest of the eternal truth and knowledge that we have come to search for so eagerly 'midst the wise and learned scholars of our fair institution of intellectual endeavor.

No, we haven't been out in the sun too long. That's just typical of the mildew you'll find in the space week after sickening week. Even I don't know why I do it. This stuff may not be good, but it's regular.

The first few days of school really are rather exciting, though; lots of enthusiasm, new faces, no fear of exams yet. (That last one's the clincher.)

Most heard query: "How do I get to the fourth floor of the LA Building?" Famous last words: "Well, this teacher wouldn't give us any homework on the first day."

Then there's the case of the over-indulgent prof who says, "Seven absences and seven only, o-n-l-y, will be allowed in this class; however, excuses will be accepted in event of flash floods, hurricane Edna, Eloise, Philomena, Marybelle or otherwise, atomic war, funeral (your own) or any other case of obvious necessity."

This writer's enthusiasm about the new school year is greater than usual because of a newly chosen major, Education. By gratifying coincidence, we happened to note that in Aristotle's "Metaphysics," Book No. 1, Chapter 1 (Boy, ain't we getting hoity-toity!) that the great scholar says, "In general, the proof of a person's knowledge or ignorance is his ability to teach." My, my, how timely. However, a sudden flash of memory is jolting us with "Those who can, do—those who can't, teach." Gadzooks!

Say, incidentally, while we're getting so all-fired learned, do you know whence came the monicker, "Metaphysics"? (I don't really give a darn if you do or not, because I'm going to tell you anyhow!) Well, it jes' so happens (OK, so it's out—I'm a Pogo fan) that "Meta" (it happens to be the best of us) is the Greek word for "after" and (I even know a bank president who does) before Aristotle's philosophy works were famous (yeah, and if you'd let your hair down, you would, too) some editor thus labeled a pile of unnamed Aristotelian scrolls which were placed after the philosopher's treatise on physics. (I hate editors. They're such cut-ups!) Anyhow, isn't that swell about metaphysics? And did you get that one about "cut-ups"? Five will get you ten they don't even print this.

President's Corner

The beginning of another year brings about the usual hellos and similar greetings. On behalf of the student body officers and myself I would like to extend a sincere welcome to the freshmen and to all the students. Although it is impossible to meet every student at SU, we are going to try to meet as many as possible. Our obligation is not to a few students, but to all.

There is one question prevalent among the students, that is: "What are we going to do this year?" It is impossible to predict the future. However I would like to give you a thumbnail sketch of the plan. Each administration in the past has made a major contribution to the student body. We hope to maintain this record.

This year, in order to provide a more controlled election, we have obtained the use of standard voting machines. These machines will speed up voting as well as give a more rapid return. We plan to use the voting machines for all major elections on campus.

While on the subject of elections, I have been asked why the Frosh elections are scheduled so late in November. This is because it is impossible to vote for someone that you don't know. With the elections being held later in the quarter, the freshmen will be able to vote on a person's ability and not on his or her popularity. It is essential that each class elect qualified officers with the ability to make their class the best.

Periodically, the ASSU, with the aid of The Spectator, will provide you with an article on student government and student events. Next time we will give you a breakdown of the rights and duties of the students at Seattle University.

Sincerely yours,

DARRELL BRITTAIN,
ASSU President.

Too Young?

• TOM COLLERAN

SO TO COLLEGE . . .

"School days, school days, good old golden rule days." This is the way many of us remember our high school days—in kind of a nursery rhyme fashion. And why shouldn't we? For the most part, we just went along for the ride and had a lot of fun. Our teachers took us by the hand and led us ever so gently along the path of education, making sure we side-stepped the dangerous pitfalls of false ideologies and boosting us over any and all intellectual hurdles so that we barely had to flex a mental muscle all the way through high school.

We were nurtured gently as children, but time doesn't stand still. The transition is inevitable. We are no longer high school adolescents; we are college men and women.

One of the most important keys to our future success in college is that we recognize our new status and make the necessary adjustments. If we try to live in the same easy dependent manner of bygone high school days we are doomed to failure.

WHAT IS AN EDUCATION?

Everything we learn in college is not "in the books." Campus activities are a vital part of college education. They are intended to develop the whole man: physically, socially, and spiritually, as well as intellectually. Here again, it is important for the college novice to develop the faculty for putting first things first—study before pleasure.

If we begin as a freshman to set up a schedule regulating our study time, there will be plenty of time left over for sports, dances, committee work and all the rest of the special student activities that make up campus life.

Here are a few tips from college educators all over the country which will help make our years easier, happier and more successful:

Start studying at once.
Get to know the library immediately.
Set up a schedule for ourselves.
Get enough sleep.
Don't forget chapel.
Don't forget classes.
Be on our own and make the most of our independence.
If we get in trouble, see our advisor right away.
Think about this, use it, and collect the dividends come exam time next December.

NOTES off the cuff

• JIM PLASTINO

With a full year of activities staring us in the face we come to the conclusion that this column should no longer be devoted strictly to music, as it was last year. Therefore, you can expect to read about 'most anything that's going on around campus, from politics to dances.

First and foremost, there will be no big name band appearing at Seattle University this year. The biggest reason is money. Seems that nobody's got enough of it to finance the appearance of anything other than Milo Hall and his orchestra.

Darrell Brittain told us that he thoroughly investigated the situation and there was no one willing to support the idea. He also says that most of the colleges he contacted concerning the idea advised SU to stay clear. It's a big headache, or so they say.

Furthermore, we just don't seem to have the necessary ability around the campus to handle such a big proposition. There can be no doubting that it would take a lot of talent and a lot of organization to put over the appearance of a name band. Oh well, as we always say after the NCAA basketball tournament . . . maybe next year.

Joan and Diane Bailey, identical twins, provided us with a lot of choice quotes in our interview the other day. In addition to being highly talented artists, the girls are splendid conversationalists, considering that they are just out of high school. Although they are very much alike in most respects, the Baileys do not always think alike.

Joan talks a little more, likes math considerably more, and does not go in for jazz as much as her sister. Also, Diane is married and loves it; Joan is single and doesn't even want to think about marriage.

It is interesting to know that the Bailey twins would never have come to SU were it not for the efforts of Father Vachon, the head of the Art Department. Seems that the good Father was out at the Bellevue Arts and Crafts Fair, looking over the paintings on display. He came across one painting and stood there, filled with amazement. "This looks like a Rouault," he proclaimed. He went over to one of the officials and found that the painting was the work of one of the Bailey twins. Father Vachon wasted no time in contacting the sisters and persuading them

'Hamlet' Thrills New Audiences

• M. STECKLER

With the advent of stereophonic sound and the cinemascopic scenes, little Hollywoods from Tokyo to Paris have been producing movies designed to startle the TV-less multitudes.

But, there is a movie now playing at the Broadway Theater that offers more than most films of today. This movie is Hamlet.

Remember how we used to shudder whenever Shakespeare class-time came around? Remember all those quotations we had to memorize? Well, we get a much clearer picture of the works of the 17th century playwright in Laurence Olivier's Hamlet.

Here can be found superior acting, casting, interpretation and photography.

Directed by Olivier, who also plays the lead role, the movie reflects the same fascinating mixture for which the play itself is so famous and which often escaped us in class.

Throughout the movie, everyone from the lead to the grave-digger interprets his role with finesse. Especially able are Jean Simmons as the charming Ophelia, Norman Wooland as the noble Horatio and 29-year-old Eileen Herlie as the troubled Queen of Denmark.

One comment heard after seeing the movie was, "I didn't know so many everyday quotes came from Hamlet. It sounds strange to hear them in context. Times haven't really changed so much after all."

into coming to the Jesuit university. Both of them had planned to enroll at the University of Washington but a scholarship offer changed their minds. SU made a good investment in these two. The Art Department can well use this shot in the arm.

Steve Allen, president of the Drama Guild, tells us that the club is planning to produce three plays this year. Although the dates have not yet been set, there will be a fall production. Sometime in March they will stage a Lenten play called "The Upper Room." This one-act drama has been staged by the Theater Guild of America and several other groups. Steve tells us that there will also be a play in the spring. The Drama Guild was considering presenting "Stalag 17," but the lack of female parts in the script ruled out the possibility. A meeting of the principals involved, later this month, will decide what shows the Guild will put on this year.

Our old favorite, Mu Sigma, will be active in four musicals during the '54-'55 season. They plan (1) the Variety Show; (2) a Christmas Concert; (3) "Gems of Light Opera"; and (4) a spring musical. Ron Randall has written a script for the Variety Show which he entitles, "Gaslight to Arclight." There is considerable doubt as to whether the script will be accepted, however.

It has been announced by the Music Department that Mr. Francis Aranyi will replace Carl Pitzer as director of the SU Orchestra. Pitzer will still serve as director of the Choir, but his activities at Lincoln High School prevent him from heading both Orchestra and Choir.

Assembly Board elections are coming up the 19th of October and you can expect a real battle for all 15 positions. The Senior division is wide open and could be the one to watch if Frank McBarron, John Kelly and Sy Simon decide to run. Louise Piccardo and Shirley Lennou are expected to try for the Junior division. It's anybody's guess as to who may enter the Sophomore race but right now Leon Herkenrath and Jim Quinn look like they would like to try.

This could well be the most interesting year in the history of that legislative body.

"THIRTY"

YOUR Presence Is Requested . .

• HELEN HOOLAHAN

So some people want an "engraved invitation," huh? Well, this is it. The "invitation" is from Our Lady herself, "engraved" with the spirit which motivates the ever-growing Sodality here on campus: "To Jesus through Mary."

The "time" is every school day, 1:00 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening.

The "place" is the SU lounge, Student Union Building. This is the setting for the Sodality "discussion groups," whose purpose it is to clarify the meaning of the sodality as "a way of life" as well as to prepare students for defense of their faith. Students in these groups not only present their questions and problems, but discuss and answer them as well, under the direction of Sodality advisor, Fr. Francis Lindenkugel, S.J.

"Anyone is welcome to drop in and take part in these Catholic Action discussions," stated Father.

The end and nature of Sodality is explained in the very first "article" in the Sodality rules:

"The Sodality of Our Lady, an association founded by the Society of Jesus and approved by the Holy See, is a religious body which aims at fostering in its members an ardent devotion, reverence, and filial love toward the Blessed Virgin Mary. Through this devotion and with the protection of so good a mother, it seeks to make the faithful gathered together under her sanctifying themselves, each in his state of life, and zealous, as far as their condition in life permits, to save and sanctify their neighbor and to defend the church of Jesus Christ against the attacks of the wicked."

KGP Sponsors Writing Contest

Kappa Gamma Pi, national scholastic and activity honor society of Catholic women's colleges, announces its 1955 Short Story Contest.

Sponsored annually in an effort to encourage young writers and promote good Catholic writing, the competition is the 23rd to be held by the honorary for students of its affiliated colleges.

The contest has been international in scope since 1942, when the first out-of-States school was accepted as a KGP college. Today, 94 Catholic colleges in the States, Canada and Puerto Rico are affiliated with Kappa.

The New Orleans chapter is handling the contest for the second consecutive year. A panel of nationally known literary figures will judge the entries, which must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 15, 1955. For the two best stories, prizes of $50.00 and $25.00 will be awarded.

Contest rules have been sent to the President of the College. If they are not available, write Miss Florence M. Woodfork, contest chairman, at 2801 New Orleans Street, New Orleans 19, La., for a copy.

Operation Switchboard

• FRANC SCHUCKARDT

This is dedicated to the long-suffering individuals who devote a portion of their lives to the Seattle University switchboard. . . .

A buzzer sounds. A light flashes. A click is heard, and then the familiar, "Seattle University." And so begins another of the many conversations that take place daily through the live wires of the local campus. Some of these verbal transactions are very "different," to say the least. And the people who contribute to such switchboard dramas are even more interesting. For instance, there's the cute little voice with the Southern accent who asked for Joe. "Joe who?" "Oh, Ah doesn't just rightly know, honey chile. But you-all should sho 'nuff know him—he goes to yo' institution." Very courteously you tell her that there are nearly a hundred Joes at the "institution," and she'll answer back, "Oh—just one of 'em will do, thank you-all!"

Lunch time. Pangs of hunger arose within a suffering stomach. The operator hungrily grabbed a sandwich from yonder lunchbox. Then it happened; the switchboard lit up like the Aurora Borealis. And of course, his gums were glued with gooey, peanut-butter—crunchy style yet. So Sunny Jim made his "Hello" sound definitely lopsided. The dignified person on the other end of the line thought he was "in a disgraceful condition, and could almost smell his breath clear across the telephone wires!"

Then there was the time when the switchboard was overrun by a Seattle radio station which originated from some downtown church. All incoming and outgoing calls transmitted the station's preachers and many surprised callers heard: "Seattle University—may God forgive you, you shameless sinners!"

Of course every day there are the usual jokers who ask, "Are you there?" and "How long will the line be busy?" Many others don't know the last name or the first name or whether whomever they are calling is a boy or a girl.

And leave us not forget the good Fathers who dryly ask, "Any message?" and smile overexuberantly at an infrequent negative reply. Also, there are those who wait and wait and wait (so patiently) for said good Fathers—all part of "Operation Switchboard."

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER Luckies—and by a wide margin—according to the largest and latest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. The pleasure you'll get from Luckies' better taste is vividly depicted in the Droodle above, titled: Modern artist enjoying Lucky while glancing in mirror. See the ecstatic smile? Well, you, too, can be happy. Just go Lucky!

WASHINGTON vs. SEATTLE U?

With the football season a thing of the past for Northwest colleges, local interest is swinging to basketball and wherever the cage sport is a topic of conversation you inevitably hear the same old question—What about a series between Washington and Seattle U?

A fine article on the subject appeared in the University of Washington Daily earlier this month. It was written by Ted Van Dyk, the associate editor of the Daily. Ted gave the subject an objective and excellent treatment and, because it is a problem of particular interest to Seattle U students, we felt the article should be reprinted.

OLD CONTROVERSY RENEWED

"As basketball interest stirs so does the old Seattle U-Washington controversy. "Why won't the Huskies play Seattle U?" is the question and it's a good one.

"Downtown papers and Chieftain fans first began beating the drums for a Washington-Seattle U basketball series a few years ago.

"At that time, the Chieftains were just beginning to move into basketball prominence, and so were the O'Brien twins. The Washington athletic department argued wisely that Seattle U was playing a minor league schedule and wasn't ready for games with the Huskies.

"Washington never did meet Seattle U until the NCAA regional playoffs at Corvallis two years ago, when Bob Houbregs and Co. out-classed the O'Brien Corporation.

"Pressure for a cross-town series has increased during the past two years, however, and now it seems with good reason. Despite the loss of the O'Briens, Al Brightman has molded a topflight club at Broadway and Madison. The Chieftain schedule is no longer minor league, and neither are the ballplayers.

WHY NOT NOW?

"Let's face it. Washington students would like to see the series. Seattle U students would like to see the series. Seattle sports fans would like to see the series—and, more important, would pay well to see it.

"And the games would be good ones.

"Players on both teams are itching to face each other.

"Harvey Cassill would do the fans a favor by scheduling a trial series next year. How about it, Harvey?"

WHAT'S THE NEXT MOVE?

It should be stated that Bill Fenton and the SU athletic department have exhausted every polite means at their disposal for the past five years to schedule games with Washington. Seattle U would be more than receptive to any reasonable offer from Washington.

You can argue the pros and cons all week, but the question still reverts back to the Washington athletic department, and if you want to go further, you can point to Harvey Cassill.

Admittedly Harvey is in a tough spot. The students of both universities want the game and the public is starting to exert more pressure for a contest. At the same time, Cassill has to protect what he feels are the best interests of Washington. As the pressure grows, the time comes closer when Mr. Cassill will have to make a decision. Harvey is holding a hot potato. I hope he doesn't get burned.

Meet The Chieftains

Glowaski, Bauer Picked As Chieftain Starters

By AL KREBS

With the opening game of the season still two weeks away Al Brightman last week named two of his starting five that will oppose Western Washington in Bellingham on December 4.

After naming Stan Glowaski to a forward spot on the 1954-1955 edition of the Chieftains, the local mentor named Cal Bauer, who is being boosted for All-American honors, to one of the guard positions.

Their last season record at a glance:

	FG	FT	TP	FGP	FTP
Glowaski..	151	77	379	48.8	71.3
Bauer .....	113	102	328	46.4	65.4

Spots still to be filled on this season's five are the remaining guard and forward slots. Bobby Malone and John Kelly seem to have the inside track for these positions.

In Kelly, Brightman has his biggest problem for he cannot make up his mind as to starting the 6-2 Yakima sensation, or whether it would be wise to use him as a sixth man, who can go in and spark the team.

After Wayne Sanford's ankle injury late last season Kelly filled in for the injured star brilliantly enough to earn himself high consideration by the coaching staff as a key man in this year's attack.

Last week the Seattle squad gave a "sneak preview" of their ability to some 900 fans, including alumni, friends of the school, businessmen, and students in the SU gym. After a stirring opening number by the pep band, Brightman and the entire 16-man squad was introduced to the crowd by Jack Gordon.

The fans were then given a demonstration of the basic plays and drills used by the team, after which Bauer gave an indication of his ability in scoring 16 points for the victorious "red" team in an abbreviated 20-minute game.

Also on the program was an explanation by the officials of some of the various NCAA rule changes for the coming season.

The controversial one - and - one rule which entitled a player to get one free shot on a foul committed against him while not in the act of shooting, and then get an extra shot if he failed to make it, has been abolished except in the last three minutes of the game.

In its place this year is the rule that if a player makes the first shot he gets a "bonus" toss for his accuracy. If he misses the first shot the ball is in play.

Prior to "Operation Preview" the Chieftains spent most of their practice time in perfecting their fast break and tightening up the defense.

After these drills their coach handed out laurels to several of his ball players, including Ken Fuhrer, Malone, Dick Stricklin and Godes.

Commenting on Malone's progress, Brightman said, "The team is a lot like a ship—it needs a rudder to go places. Malone has the quality to be our rudder."

That ship should hit its first wave around December 4 in Bellingham and from then on the seas get plenty rough.

Ed Campbell Speaks:

BOWLING STARTS OCT. 12; ALL NEWCOMERS WELCOME

By FRANK PIRO

They'll be off and running next Wednesday, Oct. 12, at Broadway Bowl with play scheduled to get under way at 2:30. Ed Campbell, in his second year as league director, was interviewed this week and emphasized the fact that "the league is open to any registered student at SU, novice or expert."

Arrangements have been made to give special attention to the newcomers. "If you have begun bowling recently or if you have never bowled a line in your life," said Ed, here's a fine opportunity to start. Mr. Bob Kelly, the new manager of Broadway Bowl, will be on hand to give instructions to the beginners."

Bowling enjoyed a tremendous increase in popularity at SU during the past year. Over 80 students took part in intramural play last fall. One reason for the increased interest is that bowling affords the only organized intramural activity on campus in which both men and women may participate together. Next week teams will be formed consisting of two ladies and two gentlemen to a squad.

Ed also announced a list of new trophies that await the winners, both team and individual, in this fall's league play.

Trophies will be awarded for the high game and the high average during the season, for both men and women. In addition trophies will be given to each member of the winning team.

During league play the price for three games will be 90 cents. Shoes will be provided free of charge. For further information contact the Broadway Bowling Alley, Ed Campbell, or the Spec.

Each year a bowling "varsity" is selected to represent SU in a match with the University of Washington and at the Intercollegiate Bowling championships which will be held this year at Washington State College in Pullman. Anyone may try out for the squad. An announcement will be made later in the year in reference to the time for turnouts and practice for the squad.

Ed closed the interview with the remark, "All things considered, 1954 promises to be an excellent year for the bowlers, so let's see you all at Broadway Bowl. Remember the date—Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 2:30 sharp—see you then."

INTRAMURALS

All men interested in playing intramural football are asked to meet with Bill Fenton in the Gym Monday, Oct. 11, at 12:15 p.m.

Freshmen are especially urged to attend and sign up. The program provides opportunity for frosh to get to know many of the more active men of the school.

Last year there were approximately ten teams competing, and the season wound up with Jerry's Boys and the Tacoma Boys finishing in a dead heat. The two clubs failed to agree on a playoff date, so they were declared co-champions.

singles, doubles, and mixed doubles; and at the Washington State Championships she took singles and doubles.

With every championship cup offered around here stowed away, Janet decided to tour the Eastern grass court circuit and, although she didn't win any championships, the quality of her play and the quality of opponents she won from and lost to, marked the trip as a very successful endeavor.

At Philadelphia, Janet was stopped by the South's best player after she had beaten Althea Gibson, the national negro champion. At the Middle States Grass Court Championship Janet lost to the national junior champion and at the Manchester Invitational Tournament at Essex, Mass., she lost a very close match to world-renowned Shirley Fry.

After visiting relatives for a week in Boston, Janet tried the National Doubles Tournament and made the round of sixteen before losing. At this tournament she got a chance to work out with the Australian Davis Cup team which was a very enjoyable and very valuable experience.

After losing to Margaret Varner at the Maidstone Invitational Tournament, Janet journeyed to the Nationals at Forest Hills. There she made the round of sixteen and also the Junior Wightman Cup team, which is an honorary equal to an All-American for girls under 21.

Traveling to the Pacific Southwest Tournament at Los Angeles, Janet and her partner played the tennis trail's longest set of the year in the mixed doubles as they lost to national men's champ Vic Seixas and Dorothy Cheney, 6-3, 20-18.

From there Janet came home, after visiting relatives in California. Checking the figures, one finds Janet's record entitles her to a top twenty national women's ranking—a very notable achievement.

Second Hiyu Hike Set for Next Sunday

Second Hiyu Coulee hike of the year is set for Sunday, Oct. 10. Destination is Trout Lake in Stevens Pass.

Hikers leave at 9 Sunday morning from the north end of the mall and will return around 7:30 p.m.

There is a fee of $1.00 to cover transportation. All those attending should bring sack lunches. A stop will be made in Monroe for those who have not had breakfast.

Those interested may sign the paper on the first floor bulletin board. This is only to estimate transportation needed, and it is not necessary in order to attend.

Hiyu hikes are never canceled because of weather. Hikers find that the weather at the area of the trip is often quite different from that found in the city.

For the information of freshmen, Hiyu Coulee means "lots of hiking." All are welcome to attend any of the trips, whether or not they are members.

Summer Tourneys See SU Golfers

Sporting a hot 68, Gordy MacKinzie, a member of SU's esteemed golf team, grabbed top honors by defeating Bill Kemp in the Seattle Junior Golf Championship last summer.

It took 21 holes before Gordy moved into the lead. Both men had a par 4 on the 18th hole, which evened the match. As defending champion, Kemp tired, and Gordy grew more calm and collected.

The payoff came at the 22nd hole, when MacKinzie made a beautiful drive and placed his second shot on the green. Sinking a 30-foot putt, Gordy got an eagle 3 on the par 5 hole to win the match.

Not only good against local golfers, MacKinzie in both '53 and '54 showed his superiority over Canadian golfers by overcoming opponents from all over Canada to snatch the Canadian Junior Golf Championship in British Columbia.

Over much-talked-about Kevin Riley, Gordy banged out a sizzling 68 to take the honors.

Another spectacular name appears in the golf game from SU—Dick Masterson.

During the summer, Dick won the City Amateur Championship at Inglewood golf course. Dick's worthy opponent was Jerry Fahr.

This match had its ups and downs, with a tie up to the 36th tee. On this hole, Masterson's second shot with a spoon landed on the edge of the green. Sinking a long putt, Masterson was one up on Fahr, who failed to get down in par 5.

Last year Seattle University had a great team, tying the U. of W., splitting 1 and 1 with the Oregon Webfoots, and winning all the rest of their engagements. Masterson was high-point man last season, with Dale Lingenbrink second.

Others on the team were Chuck Briggs, Wayne Samples, and Patty Lesser. This year all of the six high-point golfers are returning to SU.

If you drive for the sheer zest of it
you owe yourself
this hour!

If your hands rejoice in the precise balance of a fine gun or the sweet response of a racing sloop . . . then you owe yourself an hour with the Chevrolet Corvette.

You'll find it is, quite literally, like no other car in the world—a heart-lifting blend of the true sports car with all that is best in American engineering.

There is the velvet smoothness of a Powerglide automatic transmission (but with the classic floor selector-lever).

The trouble-free durability of a Chevrolet "Blue-Flame" engine (but with three side draft carburetors to unleash its flashing 150 horsepower).

The ruggedness of an X-braced box girder frame (but with the astonishing impact resistance of a glass-fiber-and-plastic body).

Luxurious seating for driver and passenger in deep foam rubber (but cradled in the traditional security of bucket seats).

Generous luggage room, the panoramic sweep of a deeply curved windshield, the flair of tomorrow's styling (but within the polo-pony compactness of a real road car).

The Corvette blends all this and more. For it is a driver's car . . . a low-slung torpedo with a center of gravity only 18 inches above the concrete . . . with outrigger rear springs that make it hold to the road like a stripe of paint . . . with a 16 to 1 steering ratio that puts needle-threading accuracy at your finger tips.

Frankly, the Corvette is a "limited edition," made only in small numbers. It is intended only for the man or woman to whom driving is not just transportation but an exhilarating adventure, a sparkling challenge to skill and judgment. If you are one of these, then you owe yourself an hour with a Chevrolet Corvette.

Call us now and let us set up a demonstration run . . . for in a short 60 minutes you can discover that motoring has a whole new dimension of delight.
